FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ASG Amaray introduces Jim Sykes as new President and CEO

STAMFORD, Conn. (Apr. 14, 2014) — Amaray, the plastic injection-molding division of ASG, a leading global specialty packaging manufacturer, today named Jim Sykes its President and Chief Executive Officer.

A recognized leader in the plastics molding industry, Sykes brings more than 25 years of experience to Amaray. He spent the last 22 years at Nypro Inc., where he served as Group President - Consumer & Electronics Global Business Unit. At Nypro, he helped transform the company from primarily a healthcare-focused, plastic molding company to a global leader in plastic-based manufacturing, while increasing revenue more than tenfold. Sykes played an instrumental role in building the Consumer & Electronics division into Nypro's largest business segment. He holds a B.S. in Business Administration from Indiana University of Pennsylvania and an MBA from Nichols College.

"We are thrilled Jim has joined us as President and CEO of ASG Amaray," Mike Jackson, Chairman of ASG's Board of Directors, stated. "He brings tremendous knowledge of the global plastics market and an intense focus on developing value-added solutions to customers' needs. His passion and understanding of the industry will help Amaray significantly expand its products and market scope."

Moving forward, Sykes will help broaden Amaray's global footprint by expanding into new product categories and markets. At the same time, he will sustain and increase the company's media packaging segment and pursue opportunities in the consumer arena, servicing market segments Amaray has strategically identified as growth areas.

"I am honored to join an organization with such a clear and successful focus on employees, customers, and innovation," Sykes stated. "I look forward to working with the Amaray team to drive strategic growth and leverage the company's core, multinational capabilities for the highly efficient, automated manufacture of plastic components and sub-assemblies."
